Feliz
Día

The diagram shows a trapezoidal shape with a central horizontal bar. The bar is divided into two equal-width sections by a single horizontal line. The top and bottom edges of the trapezoid are parallel horizontal lines, with the bottom edge being longer than the top edge. The four sides are straight lines connecting the corners of the top and bottom edges. The central bar is positioned such that its ends are aligned with the vertical projections of the top and bottom edges.
